

Joseph Kerski, Ph.D., GISP
Education Manager, Esri

Dr. Joseph Kerski holds a Ph.D. from University of Colorado, Boulder, M.A. in Geography from University of Kansas, and a B.A. in Geography from University of Colorado, Boulder. He is currently the Education Manager at Esri, with 30 + years' experience in all 4 sectors of society- nonprofit (AAG, NCGE, UCGIS, others), government (NOAA, US Census Bureau, USGS), industry (Esri), and academia (University of Denver and others).

His focus is on using geography and Geographic Information Sciences (GIS) to expand the use of spatial thinking in all sectors of society by fostering educational partnerships, conducting educational research, writing and editing texts and research articles, teaching face to face and online hands-on courses, developing curricula, supporting educators, and training teachers, students, governmental, nonprofit, and business users at all levels.

<https://www.josephkerski.com/>