

Andrea Grace Johnson is the Deputy Division Chief of the U.S. Census Bureau's Geography Division. She oversees the programs and people that support the Census Bureau's address and spatial data assets. In her 27 years at the Census Bureau Andrea has supported the collection and maintenance of addresses and spatial data in the 2000, 2010, and 2020 Censuses from a variety of vantage points at Census Headquarters and in the Chicago Regional Office.